Quotes to Consider

Choosing Friends: "Mark well the places, and society, and companions, that unhinge your hearts for communion with God, and make your prayers drive heavily. There be on your guard. Observe narrowly what friends and what employments leave your soul in the most spiritual frame, and most ready to speak with God. To these cleave and stick fast." -J. Ryle

Pray First: "Well, I am going to do so and so,' says one, 'and I shall pray for a blessing on it afterwards.' Do not begin it until you have prayed! Begin, continue and end everything with prayer, but especially begin with prayer. Some people would never begin what they are going to do if they prayed about it first, for they could not ask God's blessing upon it." -C. Spurgeon

Discipline: "Without holiness no one will see the Lord" (Heb. 12:14). And without discipline there will be no holiness. God's purpose in the chastisement of His children establishes what our purpose must be in the chastisement of our children. Our purpose in chastising our children must be their profit. But their profit is not their pleasure, but their holiness. Thus our purpose in disciplining our children is nothing less than their life. Do we want our children to live? Do we want them to live spiritually? Do we want them to live eternally? Do we want them to live in the day of Jesus Christ? Then we discipline, because discipline maintains and preserves and increases holiness." -D. Engelsma
